

Whether you're traveling to a meeting or heading somewhere else with your business partners, there's no better way to impress them than by flying on a private jet. Here are some of the specific ways to impress your business partners when you fly private together:

Book the right aircraft for your group size

When you book a jet, make sure to select one that comfortably accommodates your group size. This will ensure that everyone has enough space to relax and that there is no overcrowding. When you're a member of JetMembership.com, you have access to a wide range of private aircraft, and we can easily help you choose the aircraft that will best accommodate your group.

Select a luxurious jet

Every private jet is unique, and some are simply more impressive than others. When choosing a jet, opt for one that is luxurious and features all the comforts of home. This will show your business partners that you're willing to go the extra mile to make them feel comfortable and pampered.

Arrange for a special greeting

When your business partners step onto the jet, they'll be greeted by a personal assistant who will take their luggage and show them to the cabin. You can also arrange for champagne service or a special meal prepared just for them.

Plan an exciting itinerary

Even if the main purpose of your trip is for business, you'll still want to make the trip memorable in other ways. If you want to really impress your business partners, plan an exciting itinerary for the trip. This could include a visit to a popular tourist destination or even a scenic flight over some of the most beautiful areas in the world on your way to your destination.

Have on-board meetings

When you fly on a private jet, you and your business partners will have the privacy to discuss business matters or relax without interruption. If your business partners need to discuss important matters, you can arrange for a meeting in the air. The cabin is spacious and private, and it can provide all the necessary tools for a productive meeting while in-flight. You can also make the flight more enjoyable by arranging for special amenities and services. For instance, you can book a larger jet that has an entire conference room for on-board meetings, which is surely to impress.

On a private flight, you will also have your own professional flight crew, who will take care of everything from boarding to landing. This means you can relax and focus on your business partners and any important meetings you need to have.

Customize the flight experience

The best way to impress your business partners is to customize the flight experience according to their needs. Work with JetMembership.com to create a unique itinerary that meets your partners' needs.

For example, you could book a jet that offers a fully stocked bar and gourmet meals. You can also arrange for in-flight entertainment, such as movies or music. If you want to impress your business partners even further, you could book a jet with luxurious features, such as a jacuzzi or spa.

Take advantage of the unique benefits of flying private

Flying private offers numerous benefits—more than many people realize. Some of these things may seem trivial at first glance, but in the big picture, can make a business trip go much more smoothly and run more efficiently. For example, private jets can typically travel faster than commercial airlines, meaning you'll get to your destination sooner. This can be a major advantage when you're trying to make a good impression on your business partners.

Additionally, with a private jet charter, you're in charge of your travel plans. This means you can choose the departure and arrival airports, as well as the route and timing of your flight. Private jet charters can also be arranged at short notice, so you can always fit them into your schedule. This flexibility is ideal for last-minute changes or unexpected delays.

Select the airports that are the most accommodating

Private planes often have the option to fly into smaller airports that commercial airliners cannot fly into, which have much shorter security lines than major airports. This means you'll be able to get through security quickly and avoid wasting time. Additionally, by not being limited to the type of airport you fly in and out of when you fly private, you can choose the airport that's closest to your departure point and destination. Travelers flying commercial often don't have this luxury, but when you fly private, having more options when it comes to airports can save a significant amount of time.

Charter a business flight with JetMembership.com today

When you fly on a private jet, you and your business partners will enjoy a luxurious, comfortable experience that will leave a lasting impression. Contact us today to learn more about our private jet charters.