

Private, small charter flights provide a much different experience compared to commercial airline flying. These flights can be scheduled according to your convenience, and you can essentially rent the aircraft, which is usually on an hourly basis. For your flight, you can choose the arrival and departure times that best suit your schedule, as well as the airports. The cost of small charter flights depends on multiple factors; if you want to fly private and you're looking for the most economical choice, a small plane typically costs less to charter than other types of planes.

How much does it cost to charter a small plane?

The cost of small charter flights is based on several factors, including the specific aircraft you are chartering. Generally, you can expect that for a small plane, which seats four to six people, the cost will range from $4,000 to $6,000 per hour. Similarly, for a plane that can accommodate more than six people, the charges typically increase up to $10,000 to $16,000. If you are planning a trip, then you should keep in mind that the flight hour charges will be between $1,300 and $6,000.

Types of small planes available for charter

For small charter flights, there are different categories of aircraft to choose from. Some of our favorites include:

Cirrus Vision Jet

Famous for being the first single-engine jet, the Cirrus Vision Jet is smaller and compact, measuring about 31 feet long and 11 feet tall. It can easily travel 445 miles per hour and is an affordable, budget-friendly option.

One Aviation Eclipse 550

With a speed of 430 miles per hour and the ability to accommodate up to five passengers, the One Aviation Eclipse is a good choice. It is a solid jet that many people choose when chartering a small plane.

Stratos 714

The Stratos aircraft, which is roomier for passengers compared to other options, is still one the smallest aircraft that you'll ever find. It has a cruising speed of 460 miles per hour, which is very impressive despite its small size.

Cessna Citation CJ4

Part of the aviation industry for a while now, the Cessna Citation can seat up to nine passengers and has a maximum speed of 519 miles per hour. It only requires one pilot to fly the plane and was debuted back in 2006.

Benefits of chartering a small charter flight

Safety

Compared to flying commercially, a private charter plane ensures that there is less exposure to other passengers. Amid the COVID pandemic, for instance, private flight bookings have increased substantially because people are worried about being exposed to the virus. There are also just general safety concerns that many travelers have about flying with strangers in general, and flying in a private, small plane eliminates those concerns.

Time-saving

Nobody likes spending hours at an airport prior to their flight. Flying private simplifies security and boarding procedures so that your time can be more productive. With private flight travel, you can take charge of your flight schedule and also fly with short notice, if needed.

Suitable for parties

Small parties, family reunions or just friendly get togethers, coupled with private flights, are an amazing combination. Instead of taking a commercial flight, you can charter a small plane and enjoy the company of your friends to and from your destination. During the flight, you can play games, watch movies, or simply catch up.

Affordable

If you are worried that a charter flight will potentially break the bank, chartering a smaller plane will help cut down on costs as opposed to chartering a large aircraft or jet. To make the trip affordable, you can share the cost of the trip with everyone who's traveling.

Comfort

Private flights are known to provide outstanding services, amenities, and luxuries for those traveling. When flying privately, you will get access to a spacious cabin, plush leather seats, and a clean lavatory. You can easily travel with your pets and carry as many accessories and travel bags as you'd like, without many restrictions. Let's not forget the amazing food and hospitable crew.

Privacy

Privacy is one of the main reasons why charter flights are getting popular amongst travelers. Chartered flights are a preferred way of travel for many people these days, including government officials, celebrities, and athletes. If you need privacy, relaxation, and peace of mind while traveling, then what could be better than chartering a small flight for your next trip?

Charter a small plane for your next trip

Would you like to learn more about small charter flights and the options available for your next trip? Our team is standing by and ready to assist you with the small plane that will best suit your needs for your upcoming travels. Contact Luxury Aircraft Solutions today to get started and charter a small plane!